Threatened Against One Councilman.

How can you please a man with lavish SALOON MEN ON TRIAL

DEFENSE TESTIMONY NOT ALL TAKEN BY COUNCIL.

> The license of the Albany bar, Sixth West and Second South streets, was revoked by the city council last night, sitting as judge and jury. The revocation takes effect immediately, though he matter will be taken up for reconsideration later. After taking this acion, members of the council broke up into committees to consider city business to be presented to the council next Tuesday night. As a result of the action, in the Albany bar matter, C. B. Diehl, attorney for Gus Veros and James Demaros, declared he would bring impeachment proceedings against at least one of the ouncilmen, intimating that J. J. Stewart, chairman of the license committee, rould be the man charged with vio-

ating his oath of office. In spite of the fact that five witesses were on hand for the proprietors of the saloon, they were not given an portunity to be heard, owing to the fact that Mr. Stewart cut the tria short after Veros had been on the stand and made a motion that the license be revoked, to take place immediately. The council had summoned all of these witnesses, but with only part of their defense completed, the case was cut short and the council decided, by vot of nine to five, to revoke the

On the ballot to revoke the license, the vote stood as follows: Yes, Cowburn, Fernstrom, Hodgson, Holley, Hail, Mar-tin, Raybould, Stewart, Black-9. No. Ferry, O'Donnell, Reedall, Wood, Davis Councilman Black had voted against revocation, but changed his vote and then gave notice that he would move to reconsider at the next meeting of the council.

Trial Insisted Upon.

An effort was made at the outset to throw the case out, this coming from Councilman Lorin J. Wood, but there was too much sentiment against this plan and a trial was insisted upon. Councilman Wood tried to get City Attorney H. J. Dininny into a hole by stating to the council that the attorney would state that nothing could be shown to connect Veros or Demaros, proprietors of the saloon, with the sell ing of the liquor. But Dininny refused their friends of Salt Lake enjoyed the to stand for it and told the council what he had told them last Monday nightthat there was nothing to connect the Albany bar with selling aquor on Sunday, though he believed he could connect Veros with the sale of beer in the hotel on Sunday, July 18. placed on the stand before the counc "A Day in Germany" would be a fitand neither one was positive that it was Veros to whom the money had been paid for the liquor. Sleater said he thought he was the man, and was sure Veros was the man who had been arrested by him. Crowther said he was not sure Veros had been in the place at all. Though both officers said they had heard what sounded to ther like beer bottles clinking together in room near, they had not investigate the matter at all and had done nothing but buy beer twice during five hours They arrested Veros more than an hou The success of the outing was due after paying the money to one of the men in the hotel who was serving committee, consisting of Jacob Aures.

Veros' Statement.

Gus Veros explained that he was lessee for the whole Albany block, but completed by his congregation. He will with entertainment at this outing than that he leased the rooming house to leave for Denver this morning. The Freek claimed he did not serve beer to HEAR LECTURES them and had nothing to do with it at John Demaros, who conducts the hotel, admitted that he had served beer in the hotel, and an action is now being prepared against him by the city attorney's office. Salt Lake Men Say Exposition Will Be Best in History -Live Stock.

D. F. Collett, O. H. Hewlett, P. W. Dunyon and other manufacturers of Salt Lake returned from Ogden yesterday, where they had been making arrangements for ten or twelve exhibits of Salt Lake manufacturers at the coming Intermountain Four-State fair They say that this coming fair promises to be very largely attended, and will undoubtedly be the largest event of the kind ever held in Ogden. For this reason they consider it will furnish a great opportunity for Salt Lake manufacturers to further the popularity of their products by exhibiting them, and they are working to persuade others not now ncluded on the list to make displays.

The livestock exhibit will, they say, be extra large and extra choice, and the racing will be a big feature. Many norses are coming and, to insure accom nodations at the track for all outside norses, the Ogden owners of exhibition their animals in home stables at night The Salt Lake men are loud in their praises of the courteous and accommo dating manner in which they have been treated by the management of the fair, and they say everything possible has been done to give them not only a square deal, but a shade the best of it.
